Champagne and Chocolate Truffle Decadence Body Facial Treatment Is New at Remède Spa at The St. Regis Aspen Resort

Aspen, Colo. (May 15, 2010) – Toast to indulgence, and fall in love with chocolate with the new Champagne and Chocolate Truffle Decadence body facial treatment beginning June 1 at Remède Spa. With its hydrating and anti-aging properties, this deliciously seductive treatment is a great reminder that everything is better with chocolate.

A perfect way to “treat” your leading lady, this sumptuous treatment is sheer indulgence. First, an all-natural champagne scrub exfoliates the skin, followed by a cocoa-infused chocolate mask for the ultimate hydration and relaxation. Then, melt away tension with a calming scalp massage of essential oils that restores a healthy balance to the scalp and hair. After a refreshing rinse, become enraptured with a 30-minute moisture-rich chocolate lotion massage. To continue the indulgent experience, each guest is presented with a glass of bubbly at the conclusion of the treatment. The 90-minute service costs $250, or one can upgrade to a 60-minute massage for $320.

The worldly pleasures at Remède Spa are endless. Other tempting treatment selections include an altitude-adjusting Rocky Mountain Ritual, calming lavender Stillness Ritual and intense Sports Recovery Ritual. The Ritual experiences range from 90 minutes to two hours and forty-five minutes and the prices are $240 to $420, depending on length of treatment. Also, the spa now offers full-body microdermabrasion, which leaves the skin incredibly soft and luminous with the application of emulsion crystals. An hour microdermabrasion costs $165.
